HONG KONG BN(O) HOUSEHOLD MEMBER VISA

The Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa is an immigration route for adult children (aged 18 or over) of a BN(O) Status Holder or a BN(O) Status Holder's partner, born on or after 1 July 1997, to live, work and study in the UK.

Applicants for a Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa may be ordinarily resident in Hong Kong or the UK. The Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa route can lead to settlement in the UK.

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Members can be joined by their Dependent Partner, Dependent Children under the age of 18 or Adult Dependent Relatives of the Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member or their partner.

Since 30 November 2022, adult children (born on or after 1 July 1997) of BN(O) Status Holders have not been required to form part of the same household or apply at the same time as the BN(O) Status Holder. In other words, adult children can apply independently of their BN(O) Status Holder parents. Partners, dependent children, and adult dependent relatives of the adult child may also apply with them

The exact requirements you will need to satisfy may vary depending on your circumstances. You may want to speak to an immigration lawyer for expert advice.

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa Same Household Requirement

Since 30 November 2022, adult children (born on or after 1 July 1997) of BN(O) Status Holders have no longer been required to form part of the same household or apply at the same time as the BN(O) Status Holder. In other words, adult children may apply independently of their BN(O) Status Holder parents.

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa Residency Requirement

Applications for a Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa can be made from outside or inside the UK.

If applying from outside the UK, you must normally live in Hong Kong at the date of application.

If applying to switch into the Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member route from within the UK, you must normally live in Hong Kong, the UK, Jersey, Guernsey, or the Isle of Man on the date of application.

In determining where a person is ordinarily resident, the Home Office will consider if you have a regular habitual mode of life in a particular place for the time being, which has continued apart from temporary or occasional absences, and whether that residence is voluntary and adopted for a settled purpose. We can advise you on the evidence that can be provided to show this, depending on your particular circumstances.

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa Financial Requirement

(<https://www.google.co.uk>

If applying for a Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa from outside the UK, you will need to satisfy the Home Office that you will be able to adequately maintain and accommodate yourself, or be adequately maintained by the person being granted permission on the BN(O) Status Holder route, without recourse to public funds for at least 6 months.

If applying to switch into the Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member route from within the UK, you will also need to satisfy the Home Office that you will be able to adequately maintain and accommodate yourself, or be adequately maintained by the person being granted permission on the BN(O) Status Holder route, without recourse to public funds for at least 6 months. However, the financial requirement will be deemed to be met if you have already been living in the UK for at least 12 months.

The Immigration Rules set out the ways in which the financial requirement may be met. A BN(O) Household Member applicant or the person on the BN(O) Status Holder route may, if required, rely on credible promises of future third party support.

Adequate maintenance is where the projected weekly income ("A"), less weekly accommodation costs ("B"), would be equal to, or more than, the amount the family would be entitled to if they were in receipt of income support or equivalent ("C"). In order to calculate whether the amount held in cash savings is sufficient, the total amount must be divided by the number of weeks of limited leave that would be granted if the application was successful ("A"). The formula for calculating adequate maintenance is the same as with weekly income: $A - B \geq C$. We can assist you with the formula and advise you as to the specified financial evidence that must be submitted.

Adequate accommodation is accommodation that is not overcrowded and does not contravene public health regulations.

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa In-Country TB Test Requirement

You will need to provide a valid TB test certificate if:

- you are in the UK and applying to switch into the Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member route from within the UK; and
- you were last granted permission to enter or remain in the UK for a period of 6 months or less; and
- you were present in a country listed in Appendix T to the Immigration Rules for more than 6 months immediately before your last grant.

If the above apply then your TB test certificate must be from an approved test centre and issued within the last 6 months.

The in-country tuberculosis test requirement will be met if you provided an approved TB test certificate as part of a successful application in the last 12 months (<https://www.google.co.uk/search?q=richmond+chambers+in>)

Duration of a Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa

If you do not already have permission on the Hong Kong BN(O) route, you will be granted permission which ends on the same date as the permission of the BN(O) Status Holder who is part of your household.

If you already have permission on the Hong Kong BN(O) route you will be able to enter or remain in the UK for a period of either 30 months or 5 years, depending on the period of leave applied for.

BN(O) Household Member Visa Conditions

BN(O) Household Member Visa holders have a right to work (including employment, self-employment and voluntary work) in almost any role, consistent with UK employment laws and subject to having the appropriate skills and qualifications.

Dependent children are able to attend school (if under 18) or education and training (if aged 16 to 19).

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa Application Fee

A 30-month Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa costs £180 per person, whilst a five-year Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa costs £250 per person, both considerably lower than many other visa routes to the UK.

BN(O) Household Members also need to pay the immigration health surcharge in order to receive access to the National Health Service in the UK, and they also need to demonstrate that they can support themselves and their dependents financially for at least six months in the UK.

Settlement in the UK under the Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa route

To apply for settlement, Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa holders must be able to demonstrate 5 continuous years of residence in the UK.

If an applicant has spent time in the UK with a different type of leave under which a person can settle, this leave can be combined with time spent in the Hong Kong BN(O) category.

Absences from the UK of up to 180 days in any 12-month period are acceptable.

To settle in the UK after 5 years, those under 65 need to satisfy the Knowledge of Language and Life in the UK requirements. <https://www.google.co.uk/search?q=richmond+chambers+immigration+barristers>

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa and British Citizenship

After being settled for a year, BN(O) Household Members can apply to register as British under section 4 of the British Nationality Act 1981, and adult dependents can naturalise (<https://immigrationbarrister.co.uk/personal-immigration/british-citizenship/british-citizenship-by-naturalisation/>) as British.

There are stricter residency requirements of no more than 450 days outside the UK during the 5 years prior to the date of application, and no more than 90 days outside the UK in the 12 months prior to the application.

Dependents of Hong Kong BN(O) Household Members

Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member Visa holders may be joined by a Dependent Partner and Dependent Children under 18 of the Hong Kong BN(O) Household Member or their partner.
